LEGACY LEDGER

THE OFFICIAL MONTHLY E-NEWSLETTER OF LEGACY NAFC

2021/2022 Legacy NAFC Chairs The Wilson/McMonigle Family

The Wilson/McMonigle family tree has strong roots in NAFCs, with branches that will continue to grow broader. Three generations have found their footing in the education they received at NAFCs—and some are currently enrolled today. Each family member has their own special recollection of their time here, and how it's impacted their trajectory in life. Meet the Wilson/McMonigle family!

Charles "David" Wilson (FCHS'71) was a freshman at Floyd Central for its inaugural opening during the 1966/1967 school year. He remembers the then-new school as a co-mingling of people and personalities that was 'groundbreaking' for everyone. He fondly recalls athletics at Floyd Central, marked by spirited pep rallies—including during the run of the "Superhicks" to the final four—and his time as a Turkey Bowl cheerleader. Life after FCHS has been a storied one for David. His accomplishments include becoming the president of Charlie Wilson's Appliance, TV & Mattresses, and driving 19 laps at Daytona International Speedway! David stays connected to NAFCS through the family business, his church, and of course, by attending various basketball games and athletic events still today.

Amanda McMonigle (FCHS'94) is the mother of three boys making their way through NAFCS, Amanda McMonigle is, herself, a proud graduate of FCHS. A community volunteer, Amanda is active in the PTO, the NAFC Education Foundation, Blessings in a Backpack Floyd County, and the racial reconciliation group, Be the Bridge to Racial Unity. As a student at FCHS, Amanda was an avid tennis player and the manager of the boys' tennis team—a passion she carried with her to Marian University in Indianapolis, where she played collegiate tennis. A graduate of Ball State University with a Master of Arts in Communications, Amanda credits FCHS with teaching her perseverance, both in the classroom and on the tennis court.

Dr. Justin McMonigle (FCHS'94) grew up in Floyd County and attended NAFCS since kindergarten. He met his wife of 21 years, Amanda, at FCHS, and today, the couple has three children of their own enrolled in various grades. He reflects fondly on his time not only in the classroom but on the tennis court, where he finished runner-up in the state in doubles his senior year. After graduating, Justin earned his Bachelor of Science in Biology from Indiana University at Bloomington. Today, he's a pediatrician and the owner of All IN Pediatrics in New Albany. Justin credits his love of science and biology to the classes he took at FCHS and the teachers who pushed him to pursue his passion as a career.

Drew McMonigle (FCHS '24) attended Greenville Elementary and HHMS, and is now a current sophomore at FCHS. Drew's freshman year wasn't a normal one—he and his classmates spent their first year learning remotely during the COVID-19 pandemic. As a sophomore, he's looking forward to getting back to FCHS, to get the full experience of lockers, classrooms, and the many facilities that make the high school experience so authentic and unique. Most of all, Drew is excited to get back on the soccer field. With two years left at FCHS, Drew is already thinking ahead to life as an alumnus. His plan is to attend Indiana University at Bloomington and pursue a degree in accounting and finance. He also enjoys spending time with his two younger brothers, Kellen and Beckham. Kellen is a third-grader at Grant Line Elementary and Beckham will be entering NAFCS next year.
